B. DD/P Materiel Board: On 15 August the Executive Group of the DD/P Materiel Board disposed of eight items on the agenda. In all but one case the Executive Group accepted the recommendations of the Working Group concerned. In the excepted case, the Executive Group adopted a revised recommendation submitted by the Office of Logistics member. Each of the items under consideration involved research and development of devices which do not affect changes in policies, plans, and programs of the clandestine services. None of them involved action in the foreseeable future by the Office of Training.

II. OTHER ITEMSA. DD/I Training Liaison Officers Meeting - 16 August 1955

1. ORR Briefing of OTR: DD/I Training Liaison Officers were told about the special briefing ORR had arranged for OTR. They were asked to comment on the possibility that each of the other DD/I Offices would conduct a similar briefing for the Office of Training. The reaction of the Training Officers was generally favorable. OTR agreed that David [] would query Staff and School Chiefs in OTR and call upon each Training Liaison Officer to discuss the substance of such a briefing, its duration, and a time mutually convenient.

week extension would be beneficial. She further queried the Training Officers on requirements for the professional typing course, specifically requesting their recommendations on offering the course during duty hours. It was concluded that they would check in their respective offices. The view was expressed that the interest in the course justified offering it during working hours.

3. Management and Supervisory Training: Mr. [] of the Basic School requested that Training Officers consider the Basic Supervisory and Basic Management courses and provide him with information on the following points: a) whether or not the Offices would prefer to have the course last one full week or maintain the regular schedule of two weeks, half-day; b) whether or not the course should be offered at [] on a full-time, one-week basis, or in the offices at Headquarters; c) what should be done about future training in this course, i.e., should an advanced training course be offered or should a refresher or review course be offered; d) whether or not the forty hours allotted to presenting this course is adequate. It was agreed that this subject would be placed on the agenda for the September meeting.

4. The Intelligence Principles and Methods Course: [] expressed the views of the Intelligence School staff regarding modifications to the Intelligence Principles and Methods course. He pointed out that the diversity of the group and the range of interest and ability among the students made it difficult for the Intelligence School to design and conduct a course which would meet this wide range of interests and requirements. He sought the advice and suggestions from DD/I components as to ways and means of improving the techniques in presenting the course. He pointed out that on-the-job experience between the Basic Orientation course and the Intelligence Principles and Methods course was generally desirable provided that personnel in DD/I were systematically "fed back" into IPM after a reasonable period of time so that their opportunity for IPM training was not forfeited. He further noted that only four students had enrolled in the Intelligence Writing course as of 16 August. The TIO's were reluctant to cancel the course since they were working to secure additional enrollments from their respective offices. It was finally agreed that the Registrar would accept enrollments through the close of business, 17 August, but that, if no more than four candidates were enrolled, the course would be cancelled. The general view was expressed that lack of enrollment was due primarily to the annual vacation peak load during this period. [] also suggested that Office seminars, meeting two afternoons a week to discuss specific intelligence problems, might prove valuable for experienced professionals.
